

The Aldermaston Golf Society was established in 1954, for like-minded individuals interested in a challenging day of fun, for players of all abilities who were happy to lose golf balls. This still applies today with handicaps ranging from 'single figures' to 'quite a lot'.

Captain's Welcome: Welcome to the Aldermaston Golf Society page, my name is Dave and I have the pleasure of being the society's captain for 2024

This year marks the 70th anniversary of the golf society, which was begun by like minded players who wanted the challenge of golf but also wanted to have a little bit of fun.

I took up that challenge 4 years ago when my dad invited me to come out as a guest, I have to admit I was a little bit nervous on that first outing as I was not a regular player, and my style if you can call it that was unusual. So I didn't know what to expect.

It turned out to be one of the best experiences I've had, the members were very welcoming, friendly, and supportive, laughing not only with me about the my wayward shots but also about their own. I couldn't wait to join the society and for the next opportunity to play with a great group of people.

The group has grown and now has more than 40+

Members young and old with a range of abilities, skills and handicaps.
